(解答例)

Hi Reina,

Are you busy this weekend? I'm going to the shopping mall on Saturday with Mayumi, because they're having a big sale this week. We're going to buy some new clothes if we can find some bargains. We're also going to have lunch in the food court. Would you like to join us?

(別解例 1)

Hi Hiroki,

Are you free this weekend? I'm going to a soccer game with Shota on Sunday. My brother's the goalkeeper for the local team, so we're going to cheer for them. After the game, we're going over to Shota's house for a barbecue. You're welcome to join us if you like.

(別解例 2)

Hi Natsuki,

Are you free tomorrow? I'm going to a café to have pancakes with my sister Rina. It's a new café—it only opened last month, and it's really popular. There's always a long line to get in, but luckily, I was able to make a reservation. Would you like to come?

What do you think?

(解答例)

- I agree. Many children just play online games all day instead of taking part in physical or social activities. It's a waste of time. They should spend more time outside with their friends. Children need plenty of physical exercise to make themselves strong in both body and mind.
- I disagree. Most children only use the internet as a study tool. They can collect lots of useful information quickly and easily on the internet.

(別解例)

- I agree that the internet does children more harm than good. They tend to waste a lot of time surfing the internet, playing online games, or watching videos. This not only damages their eyes but also means they have less time to spend with their friends and family. Children need to focus on their studies and spend more time with the people who are important to them.

- I don't think the internet does children much harm. It is just one of the many tools they use to get information to help them with their studies. Thanks to the internet, they can access a lot of useful information easily and without having to pay for it. They also use other media like TV and books for this purpose, so you can't single out the internet for criticism.
