Let's speak about...

Imagine you're an exchange student in Canada. What types of cultural activities would you like to learn about or participate in?

First of all, I'd like to try Canadian food. I'm familiar with Western cuisine in general, but I don't know what foods are unique to Canada. I'd love to try them!

I don't know much about Canadian teenagers' lifestyles, either, so I'd like to find out how they spend their free time, particularly on ordinary days after school. I'd also like to learn about Canadian pop culture. I'm especially interested in what kind of music is popular among Canadian teenagers, so I'd love it if my classmates could take me to some gigs. But just listening to music together at someone's home would also be fine.

Lastly, I'd like to learn what kind of English slang Canadian students use. I want to be able to speak like them!

Dear Mayor Suzuki,

I understand that there will be a welcome reception for the Australian students coming to our city next month. I would like to volunteer as an interpreter. My English is not perfect, but I make a point of practicing my spoken English daily. I have been studying English for more than six years now. Last year I went on an exchange program in Sydney and stayed there for three months.

Thank you for considering my application.

Sincerely,

Nakamura Kana

Dear Mayor Yoshida,

I understand that there will be a welcome reception for the Australian students coming to our city next month. I would like to volunteer to organize a takoyaki event. Takoyaki and okonomiyaki are the most popular types of comfort food for people living in Osaka, and they are fun to make. I have been working part-time on weekends at a takoyaki shop for a year now. I am a responsible, organized, and hard-working person who likes to cook. Thank you so much for considering my application.

Yours truly,

Tanaka Sho
